Enlace is a network of 22 diverse community organizations in the U.S. and in Mexico which work to empower the most marginalized members of their communities in both countries, especially the working poor, women, immigrants, and youth. One of our main projects is to support seafood processing workers in Baja California Sur, Mexico. Among the terrible conditions in this industry are child labor, sexual harassment and assault, wages of 1.5 cents per pound of squid cleaned, and workers crammed into small rooms in dormitories next to the factories. For more information, go to www.enlaceintl.org.

Enlace is a project of Communities United for People, a 501c3 nonprofit organization. Tournament entry fees less prize winnings are tax-deductible.

The tournament will be run by West LA Poker, <http://westlapoker.com>.
